

Vote counter malfunction suspected in supt. race

BY TRACI BONNEY

An apparent glitch in a vote counting machine may explain why incumbent Superintendent of Education Terrell Randolph received only two votes in three precincts Tuesday, according to Charles Gottschalk.

Randolph said of the situation, "I have no other comment than to say that we'll just have to wait until the final results are certified by the election commission, but I do feel that there is a machine error in the calculations of at least 220 to 260 votes in three precinct boxes, the Clermont Harbor, Lakeshore and Ansley boxes."

Whether the error was in a voting machine or the one used to count the votes is not known at this time, but the returns do show all the other races, including sheriff, coroner, tax assessor, supervisor and the judges' races, having a minimum of 220 to 260 more votes cast than in the superintendent's race.

Gottschalk, who is in charge of the vote counters for the county, said two of the IBM-built machines had been repaired recently and were among those being used in this week's Democratic primary tally.

Although the machines were tested prior to their use Tuesday, one evidently malfunctioned. "When the lady running the machine ran the North Bay East cards through, she noticed a discrepancy in the results. Three other precincts were also run through that machine: Ansley, Lakeshore and Clermont Harbor."

"I told Mr. Randolph I would see to it that those precincts are re-counted Thursday night when the election commission meets to confirm the results of the primaries. The results will change; where or how much, I can't say yet."

The commission meets at 6 tonight in the Board of Supervisors' room on the second floor of the county courthouse. The public is welcome to attend, Gottschalk said.

Incumbents hit the trail for runoff, general races

BY TRACI BONNEY

Several local incumbents are pulling out their walking shoes.

While some incumbents are relaxing and basking in the glow of victory, others are all too aware that a runoff and a general election are just around the corner.

Coroner Norma Stiglet and Tax Assessor/Collector Edward Murtagh are finished with the business of politicking for four years. Neither will enter the October runoff or face a Republican in the November general election.

Stiglet, who defeated challengers Larry Koenen Sr. and James Mauffray by 3,000 to almost 4,000 votes (according to unofficial returns), stated: "I'm thrilled. I was trying to step into my husband's shoes after he died and I was appointed to coroner, and now I'm stepping into my own shoes."

"I couldn't have filled my husband's place without my family, the sheriff's department and everyone else who supported me, and I couldn't have been elected coroner without the voters' support."

"I'm very happy about this. This county will have a working coroner, believe me."

Murtagh, whose unofficial vote total was nearly 4,000 ballots more than Sherman Nacaise Jr.'s, was quiet and brief in his comments.

"I'm humbly grateful to the citizens of Hancock County for affording me the opportunity to again serve them. The vote I received shows confidence in the work of my office, and that reflects well on the staff, to whom I give all the credit for working hard and serving the citizens courteously."

While Stiglet and Murtagh can put away the campaign signs, the incumbent sheriff, supervisors and superintendent of education have only begun to campaign.

Superintendent Terrell Randolph will face challenger Myrna Bourgeois in the October runoff. He said, "I want to thank all of those who supported me and will continue to support me in the runoff election. To those who voted for the other candidates, I would like to ask for their consideration after they review the qualifications of me and my opponent."

"I take my hat off to my two opponents that did not make it into the runoff. They garnered a lot of votes and ran a very respectable race."

Sheriff Ronald Peterson was pleased with his 5,000-vote margin over Scott Duncan, but realizes he can't rest on his

Hancock to participate in annual beach cleanup

BY ELLIS CUEVAS

The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with the Hancock County Board of Supervisors and the cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland, will sponsor the annual Beach Cleanup on Saturday, Sept. 21.

The cleanup is under the auspices of Mississippi Marine Trash Task Force, which includes the counties of Hancock, Harrison and Jackson.

The cleanup is also part of a national effort proclaimed by the president as National Beach Cleanup Day.

Ellis Cuevas is the Task Force's Hancock County member and also chamber beautification chairman.

In Hancock County registration will be from 8 to 9 a.m. at three locations.

Darlene Underwood, home economist, is chairman of registration.

The Hancock County Homemakers Clubs will handle the registrations at Beach Boulevard and Ulman Avenue in Bay St. Louis and Beach Boulevard at the Garfield Ladner Memorial Fishing Pier in Waveland, while Betsy Ashman, chamber member, will be at Beach Boulevard and Lakeshore Road.

The chamber's board and membership will be responsible for Beach Boulevard from Ramoneda, Bay St. Louis, to Nicholson Avenue, Waveland.

Basil Kennedy, chamber president, is hoping there will be a large turnout of chamber members for this cleanup, and will meet with the group at 9 a.m. at Ramoneda.

Bags and assignment areas will be given at the registration tables on the morning of the cleanup.

Groups interested in a particular area may call Cindy Vernon, chamber director, or Georgia Bre-

Bay council commissions second Longfellow survey

BY TRACI BONNEY

The Bay St. Louis city council voted Monday to commission another survey of Longfellow Road south of Hwy. 90, at the recommendation of city attorney John Scafide.

Scafide said he recommended the survey to determine if there is enough land in the subdivision that includes 10th and Longfellow to make up the blocks of land defined by the subdivision plat. If there is and if Longfellow and 10th are roughly where they should be, Scafide said, he doesn't see a need for the city to upset properties that have existed as they do now for almost 100 years.

Some of the property owners along the south side of Longfellow asked the council at its first September meeting to accept the findings of a survey commissioned by the city several years ago. That survey showed that the property owners on the north side of the street were encroaching on the city's right-of-way for the street, which was forcing the city to encroach on the south side properties.

The study commissioned by the city, with the Longfellow south side property owners sharing the cost, in the mid-1980s was prompted by a property dispute between the city and ABC Rental owner Charles Delk.

Councilman John Wilkerson moved to accept Scafide's recommendation and to hire surveyor James Chiniche to perform the survey.

The council unanimously passed the motion.

HOME IMPROVEMENTS

Glenn Endris of Gregory and Associates spoke to the council about a $500,000 Community Development Block Grant the city is applying for to help low- and moderate-income homeowners repair and rehabilitate their houses.

Endris said the Housing Preservation Program can be established locally to help homeowners repair houses, bring them up to any applicable health and safety standards, address energy conservation

Waveland approves budget with one dissenting vote

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

The Waveland Board of Aldermen approved the city's proposed 1992 budget Sunday with one alderman voting opposition.

Ward 4 Alderman Stan Weidman read a statement to the board citing denial of information, unexplained increases and decreases in line items, the lack of an encompassing drainage/flooding plan and the role that the utility department plays in financing the city, as his reasons for voting against acceptance.

Following the meeting, Weidman said his criticism was based on comparison studies he made between last year's budget and the 1992 budget.

The board and Mayor Stella Frilot listened as Weidman read for three minutes from a prepared statement prior to the vote on the budget.

Frilot called for a vote and the budget was adopted.

At the beginning of Sunday's meeting, aldermen Bob Hubbard and Curtis P. "Phil" Colson requested an additional $1,000 be designated in the budget to the Hancock County Senior Citizens group.

Frilot said the $1,000 would be taken from the $30,000 allocated for additional city paving, as requested by the aldermen.

No other adjustments were made to the proposed budget.

The 1992 budget is based on estimated revenues of $5.4 million.

Expenditures are divided into eight funds: the general fund ($2,605,500); water and gas ($1,875,118); the city bond and interest fund ($293,651); the sewer department ($233,565); the state loan retirement fund ($189,299); the recreation fund ($138,350); the short-term loan fund ($74,254); and the library fund ($7,950).

The general fund includes the police department ($689,550), fire department ($434,400) and building inspector's department ($25,200), which comprise 44 percent of the $2.6 million general fund.

The rest of the general fund is made up by street maintenance and garbage pickup (28 percent); general government (25 percent); the animal shelter (two percent) and parade and parkway maintenance (.05 percent).

Slidell policewoman arrested in Waveland

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

Waveland Police Department Investigator James Varnell reported that a Slidell policewoman was arrested Monday after driving erratically through Waveland and ignoring attempts to stop her.

Renee Steece, 37, of Waveland, was booked with refusing to test for DUI, reckless driving, speeding, failure to yield to blue lights and siren and resisting arrest, Varnell stated.

"Waveland Police officer Kendall Ladner answered a call from a shopping center store at 5:05 p.m. describing a woman behaving as if intoxicated.

"Ladner saw the vehicle leaving the parking lot and attempted to stop it but she sped down the Kiln-Waveland cutoff. She reached speeds of 65 mph in the 35 mph zone road. She was described as driving all over the road.

"When she was stopped she resisted arrest and when offered the test for drunk driving, she refused.

"She was placed on a $1,500 bond and released on a recognizance bond."

Varnell said Steece was on extended sick leave from the Slidell Police Department at the time of the arrest.

The areas to be collected in Hancock County will be the beach and road shoulders from Bayou Cadet to the mouth of the Jourdan River.

Trash collected will be placed in the bags provided on the land side of Beach Boulevard. Sam Cuevas, superintendent of the county's crews, and Bill Johnson, chamber director and Waste Management executive, will coordinate the collection of the bags of debris.

Those collecting recyclables are asked to bring them to the recycling center of their choice.

Data cards will be issued to participants at registration stations.

Participants are asked to document only one bag per two people. Data from this card will be used by the Center for Marine Conservation and a good cross-sample of marine debris items can be obtained from these cards.

Hancock participants are asked to return data cards in at the party to be held on the beach beginning at 11 a.m. at the Garfield Ladner Memorial Pier, Waveland, following the cleanup.

Martha Van Peski of Bay St. Louis, chamber director, has contacted area churches to seek group participation.

Nanette Murphree, Bay-Waveland Garden Club representative, is in charge of contacting schools, organizations and scouting groups.

Posters have been placed throughout the county by Theresa Heath of Waveland.

Ray Kidd, of Lil' Rays, will once again be in charge of refreshments, beginning at 11 a.m. following the cleanup.

There will be hot dogs and cokes for participants.

Vernon reports that Gulfport Coca-Cola Bottling has donated the cokes and the wagon for the cleanup.

Pepsi-Cola is also sponsoring a Chill Out from 1 to 4 p.m. at Jones Park in Gulfport for cleanup participants.

Admission will be one Pepsi License To Chill Card. The cards will be issued to all participants of the beach cleanup at registration stations.

A limited number of T-shirts and lapel pins have been provided by Chevron will be given to lucky Hancock participants.

Registrants will be asked to list a telephone number as a drawing will be held on Monday to select those to receive a free T-shirt.

The lapel pins will be distributed on the morning of the cleanup until the supply is exhausted.

United Way campaign kicks off on Friday

BY ELLIS CUEVAS

The United Way of Hancock County kickoff dutch treat breakfast will be Friday, Sept. 21, 7:30 a.m. at the Diamond-head Country Club.

Guest speaker will be former New Orleans Saints quarterback Archie Manning.

Pat Harvill, UW special events chairman, reports a record number of attendees are expected for the beginning of the 27th campaign of the Hancock County United Way.

A goal of $140,000 has been set for the 1991 campaign which funds some 23 agencies.

Michael D. Haas Jr. is the 1991 campaign chairman and is assisted by a number of volunteers.

The local campaign receives funding through pledges and donations from businesses and individuals.

Payroll deductions are urged by those whose employer offers it as a way to donate to the United Way.

Haas said, "I urge residents of Hancock County working outside the county, to please designate Hancock County to receive their pledges or payroll deductions."

Harvill reports there may still be a few reservations available for the dutch treat breakfast at $5.50 per person, and those interested may call her at 467-4242.

Residents wanting to help during the campaign, can call Haas at 467-6574, or for further information about the Hancock County United Way, call 467-9501.

GRAND LARCENY

Bay St. Louis Police Investigator David Parker reported an arrest Wednesday of Samuel L. Pope, 38, no address given, on a charge of grand larceny.

Parker said Pope was arrested after his former landlord, Dennis Farve of 206 St. Francis, reported that an air wrench and an air conditioner gauge were missing from the shed where he kept them.

Bay St. Louis Police Officer E.J. Favre found two pawn tickets for the missing items in the room where Pope had been staying, but was no longer living.

Parker said the items were recovered and Pope was incarcerated under a $2,000 bond.

Favre is assisting Parker in the investigation of the case.

MALICIOUS MISCHIEF

Bay St. Louis Police Detective Tom Burleson reported Wednesday the arrests of four men on a charge of malicious mischief in connection with the reported vandalism of a mailbox September 3 on Felicity Street.

Burleson said the four were charged and released under bonds of $100 each.

Charged were Ross Janckila, 18, 15 Wisteria Court, Bay St. Louis; Scott Rogers, 18, 317 Old Spanish Trail, Waveland; Doral Nichols, 21, 579 Easterbrook Street, Bay St. Louis; and James Mayfield, 18, 441-B St. George Street, Bay St. Louis.

GRAND LARCENY

Hancock County Sheriff's Department Investigator Nathan Hoda reported the arrest Tuesday of a local resident in connection with the reported theft of a saddle.

Hoda said Emmett Ellis, 27, of Chiniche Street, Bay St. Louis, was arrested Tuesday around 9:30 a.m. and charged with grand larceny. The sheriff's department was in the process of recovering the saddle, valued at about $200, at the time of the report, Hoda added.

He said Ellis was incarcerated in the Hancock County jail under a $2,500 bond Tuesday.

Deputy Dennis Tartavouille was arresting officer. The case is still under investigation.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

High school football goes into its third week of action Friday night.

Hancock High School's Hawks will be trying to get into the win column this week when they play host to the Bearcats of Long Beach.

Head coach Irvin Favre should have the Hawks ready for Long Beach, and a win would be a good boost for Hancock who will begin district play next week.

Bay High's Tigers, too, will be seeking their first win of the season after some good play against Pass Christian and St. Stanislaus.

The Tigers will be home as they host Forrest County AHS, and Rocky Gaudin should have Bay High ready for Forrest.

The rebuilding Tigers played a very good first half against Stanislaus last week before giving up three third quarter touchdowns.

The Tigers need to play a good four quarter game in order to win their first game of the season. This will be the Tigers' first district game of the season, too.

St. Stanislaus will open the home season for 1991 after two weeks on the road and was winner of both games.

The Rock-A-Chaws will play host to the Yellow Jackets of St. Martin, and it will be a District contest. Stanislaus has looked good in the two victories of the season.

The Rocks need to continue that style of play against St. Martin if they expect a third victory.

Head coach Ken Lyons should have the Rock-A-Chaws ready for the Yellow Jackets.

I hope that the stands will be filled with local supporters at the Hawk, Tiger and Rock-A-Chaw games this Friday night.

Remember, kickoffs are at 7:30 p.m.

I hope to see you at the game.

It seems that Janet McQueen has become the resident expert on football at The Echo.

To create some interest in football, several of us staff members are making picks each week on the ten teams which we are using on our Football Poll, and Janet picked nine correct out of the ten for the first week.

I would have done better on my selections if I had flipped a coin. I only got five correct.

I am hoping I did better on my selections for this week's games.

I know the rain has come less frequently over the past month or so than it did earlier this year.

We stand a good chance of doubling our normal rainfall for the year as we normally have about 60 to 65 inches.

On Monday I received a telephone call from Roy Baxter of Pearllington, who has a neighbor who he says keeps a very good record on rainfall, and he has recorded a total of 108.15 inches already for this year.

If that pace continues, a record could probably be set for this year.

I think it would not take much more rain to equal that of a tropical rain forest.

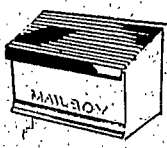

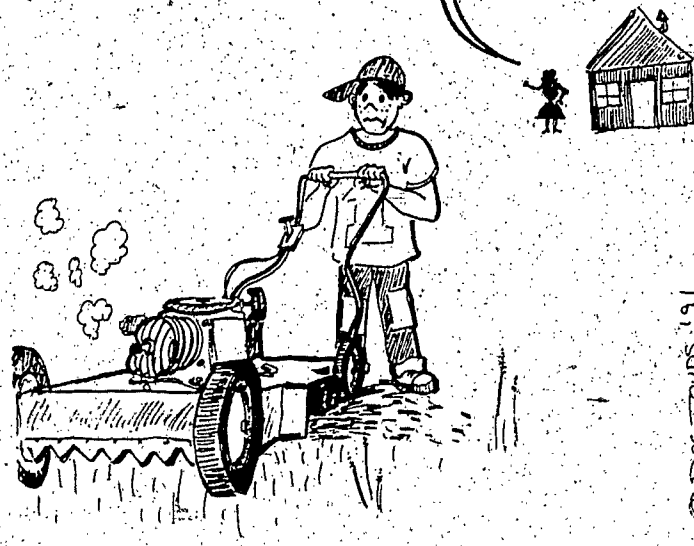

But presently, I have noticed several lawns which are turning brown for a lack of rainfall in recent weeks, so that goes to show how sandy our soil really is in Hancock County.

It will be interesting to see how much more rain we will receive before 1992 is welcomed in.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Look to the Bible to find the truth

To the Editor:

A response is directed to the writers of "America is a nation of many Gods" (Sea Coast Echo 9-12-91).

The New World (America) was originally settled by those seeking religious freedom. The battle continues today.

Another freedom we enjoy as Americans is the freedom to publicly disagree with one another and still live in peace and harmony in the same community.

Many religious houses of worship use the Bible as a source, but totally disagree on its content. That is one of the reasons why there are so many different houses of worship.

The Jesus we know loves all men. Even those who would claim to have full understanding of God's word and use it as a club over the head of those who disagree.

We do however feel that if one continues to look to God's word (the Bible) as their source for the truth they will eventually learn the truth.

Business bedfellows

The August 20-21 Belize-Mississippi Business Exchange Conference in Long Beach was a very big step toward further developing trade with our neighbors to the south.

Sponsored by the University of Southern Mississippi School of International and Continuing Education, the conference was held to promote business relations between the state of Mississippi and the Central American country of Belize which is located just south of Mexico on the western shore of the Caribbean Sea with a population of 190,000.

I was co-host at the conference along with Belizean Prime Minister George Price. Also on hand were Eugene L. Scassa, our American Ambassador to Belize, and Dr. Aubrey K. Lucas, president of USM.

In all, six representatives from the U.S. government, five ministers from the government of Belize, five American business persons, eight Belizean business persons, and four administrators from USM served as panelists at the exchange.

The two-day event drew roughly 30 Belizean business persons and more than 100 Americans, mainly from Mississippi, to discuss how best to do business with one another.

Presented was what each group has to offer in the form of products, services, distribution and overall economic growth and prosperity. The conference identified 30 specific business opportunities for discussion and investment.

I remember when the idea of doing business was presented to me and I questioned, "Why Belize?" Then I learned about the country's many advantages for Mississippi investors, its small but rapidly growing population and vast area of undeveloped land. Furthermore, the country offers back to Mississippi agribusiness, fish, garment and wood products.

The opportunities allow Mississippians to provide the developing country of Belize with a variety of products and services such as housing, machinery and training from our state's growers for agriculture, a Belizean distribution point for the U.S. market, modern fishing equipment and the list goes on and on.

Belize, once a British Commonwealth where English is the national language, experiences a very long and healthy growing season for products such as sugar, bananas and citrus fruits. Half of the country's border rest on the ocean, offering varieties of dietary marine life not found on the Mississippi coast. It offers forestry products from such hardwoods as mahogany and rosewood, and a strong labor force for manufacturing.

Also, the country's vast and unspoiled forest, coast line and the world's second largest barrier reef are rapidly becoming resting points for tourism.

The exchange opened many bright spots for Mississippi investment, and was the inaugural event of what promises to be the important economic development initiative ever undertaken in Mississippi. My congratulations to Dr. Lucas, USM and all who made the event such a success.

Some candidates' campaigns have degenerated into personal invective

This has been a political season in which attack television reached a new high (or low, depending on how you look at it) in Mississippi.

Never before have we had primary campaigns, both Democratic and Republican, in which so many candidates got on the tube and attacked their opponents on a daily basis in such a vicious way.

And never before have we heard so little from candidates for the state's top offices about substantive matters which relate to the deepening crisis in this state in financing and improving state services.

This time, issues, platforms and programs were totally absent from the appeals of candidates as the campaigns degenerated into personal invective.

Negative advertising is of course nothing new in Mississippi politics. But in the old days it was done primarily in print ads in newspapers, mostly weeklies, on a one-shot basis.

Candidates usually took their pot shot at their opponents in stump speeches, which were heard by a relatively few people back in the boonies or on local radio stations with a limited audience.

Now the attacks are broadcast to a mass audience via bought spots on television, which as we saw in this campaign, are aired morning, noon and night in massive doses.

It used to be that the candidate who began slinging mud at his opponent was considered desperate or without a program of his own. The other candidate would stay positive to show he was ignoring the taunts and staying the course of presenting his program.

Obviously the media consultants who now have a firm beachhead in Mississippi politics believe there is nothing wrong with negative advertising, and, in fact, it can be used as an effective tool.

Many wondered before Gov. Ray Mabus began his campaign to become the first governor in state history to serve back-to-back four-year terms if he would "take the high road" and not pay any attention to his opponents.

It didn't take very long for the voting public to find out that was not going to be the Mabus strategy cooked up by his media wizards. He began airing spots picking at Wayne Dowdy's voting (and absentee) record in Congress, devoting his full speech at the Neshoba County Fair to an attack on Dowdy.

Thereafter came a steady barrage of Mabus TV and radio ads charging that Dowdy "never met a tax he didn't like" in Congress and voted six or seven times to raise his congressional salary between 1991 and 1988.

Dowdy, who didn't have an out-of-state media consultant, tried TV bashing Mabus for inheriting a $100 million surplus from Bill Allain in 1988 and four years later leaving the state $120 million in the hole.

Dowdy's meanest shot at Mabus came in radio commercials attacking the closing of three charity hospitals which had babies crying in the background and an announcer asking, "Gov. Mabus, can you hear the babies crying?"

Republican gubernatorial candidates Kirk Fordice and Pete Johnson both started tossing TV barbs at Mabus and then switched to bitter attacks on each other. Johnson charged that Fordice, who had boasted in his campaign of his business ability, had been used by Louisiana for $38,000 for non-payment of unemployment taxes in the 1980s.

Fordice responded that Johnson was a "liar" and the charge was false. The Johnson camp came back with the claim that they were only shooting back because Fordice had been continually throwing mud at their candidate.

A televised debate of the three GOP candidates—Fordice, Johnson and Bobby Clinton—turned into the nastiest name-calling ever seen on Mississippi TV. Fordice and Clinton openly said they could not support Johnson if he won the Republican nomination.

The best-remembered TV ad of the primary campaign was Ken Harper's spot showing Lt. Gov. Brad Dye's "$850 chair" that the ad charged Dye bought for his office when the state was in a fiscal crisis that resulted in deep budget cuts for state agencies.

Viewers will not soon forget the chair being yanked out from under a Dye impersonator as an announcer says in a mock-Dye voice, "Hey, whur you going with mah chayuh?"

THE PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

From the Mississippi Economic Council

Are we losing our edge to the Japanese and Germans?

The United States has long set the standard for technological achievement, from the first flight at Kitty Hawk to the present.

Throughout our history we have led the world in product development, supplying millions of people across the globe with the best in goods and services.

Now we are losing our edge—and perhaps our preeminence as the world's most productive economy—to the Germans and Japanese.

Nations once dependent upon the United States as the sole supplier of key components for technology-based industries are readily turned to Germany and Japan as they produce better products less expensively. Indeed, our own defense industries and the jet fighters, tanks, missiles and satellites they supply are already heavily dependent upon foreign technology.

Yet, according to the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, civilian spending on research and development has fallen far below that of Germany and Japan. Businesses receive tax credits for increases in R & D expenditures but do not know from one fiscal year to the next whether these credits will be extended by Congress.

To compound the problem, the federal government recently reduced the amount of foreign source income against which the tax credit can be applied. This limits the overall R & D tax credit a company may claim. As a result, some U.S. companies are moving their R & D operations overseas!

We have to stop this drain of technology to other nations and boost our efforts here if we hope to remain competitive in the high-tech industries of the future.

One of the best ways to encourage civilian research and development in the United States is to make permanent R & D tax credits and to establish a moratorium against federal guidelines that limit the overall tax credit for R & D.

As Robert Louis Stevenson once said, "Everyone, soon or late, sits down to a banquet of consequences." We are now feeding on the consequences of 10 years of neglect in the areas of research and development.

It's time for our nation to change its course—before our missiles go the way of our watches.

Do you have the medium-format bug, but are working with a disposable camera budget? Do you want those beautiful 2 1/2" square (or larger) negatives, but need to deal with annoyances like paying for little Joey's braces?

Modern medium-format cameras produce spectacular imagery, but tend to cost as much as small yachts or underdeveloped countries. The real estate market is a bit soft these days, so if you did run across a good deal on a little country you could appoint yourself "Minister of Photography" and live off NEA grants and U.S. foreign aid.

Of course, even very small countries like Togo or Dominica have indigenous populations that could riot, strike, or have the extreme audacity to depose you in a coup. When shopping for a country, remember that your friendly, local real estate agent might tend to gloss over these risks and try to lure you into the deal with promises of gorgeous sunsets and hospitable natives.

They'll never tell you about the deadly Booga-Booga spider, whose favorite habitat is the inside of a 52mm lens cap, or the quaint custom of weekly human sacrifice — with photographers being the favored offering.

Anyway, the dollar is not what it used to be and it's hard to find a decent province for the cost of a new medium-format camera these days, much less a proper country.

If you really are low on funds, you'll just have to raise an army of volunteer, hardcore lunatics and invade some unsuspecting, disorganized and economically strapped nation. Russia might be a good choice: That country does produce the very serviceable Kiev 88, a Hasselblad lookalike.

The bad news is that they have rotten hotel service and nuclear weapons. Rotten service you can deal with, but the radiation from even a tiny A-bomb will fog your slowest film and turn you into a social pariah among the ecologically conscious set.

To avoid embarrassing geopolitical entanglements, it's possible that you might actually have to spend (ouch) a little money to get into medium format. C'mon, you didn't really want to wind up in Togo anyway, did you?

I lured you into reading this nonsense in the first paragraph by insinuating that you could get into medium format for the price of a disposable camera — and you can, if you buy second-hand and shop smart.

Flea markets, pawn shops and even some camera stores can frequently produce decent folding rollfilm cameras from the '50s and early '60s in the $10-$25 range.

For this money you should look for adjustable aperture and shutter speed controls and some sort of rudimentary focusing adjustment. Make sure that the camera accepts 120 rollfilm and not one of the obsolete and impossible-to-find sizes.

For those of you who are scandalously wealthy and are prepared to spend between $25 and $100, a very wide range of competent cameras are available. We are still buying second-hand, older cameras, but the quality is higher. This price range will put you within reach of some of the German Schneider-Kreuznach optics or certain Yashica twin lens reflex laurels.

"I will continue to work at the office, devote my time to that, and campaign hard in the afternoons."

The sheriff, who faces Republican Ray Murphy in the November general election, is taking an approach to his campaigning that seems to be favored by most of the candidates: the personal touch.

Peterson said he will go door-to-door, greeting people and answering their questions.

All five incumbent supervisors said they plan to hit the streets as well, knocking on doors and discussing issues.

District 1 Supervisor Robert Peterson, who faces Republican Pat Le Fave in November, praised both his supporters and opponents. "I want to thank my opponents for the clean, good gentlemanly race they ran."

"In continuing my campaign, I plan to continue going door-to-door and discussing the issues with the people of my district."

District 2 Supervisor Ronald Cuevas received a surprise Tuesday when challenger Alton "Dolph" Kellar garnered 140 votes more than Cuevas to force a runoff.

However, he is not daunted by his prospects in October. "I sincerely appreciate all the votes I did receive. One major factor in this race is that there are over 800 votes out there that weren't cast for either Mr. Kellar or me."

Cuevas plans to join his fellow supervisors on the door-knocking campaign trail.

Lisa Cowand of District 3 will face Howard Lizana in October. She said of Tuesday's results and the October election, "I feel good about it. I'm just going to keep working, keep the momentum going. I plan to do everything I can to get people out to vote."

District 4's Wilmer Seymour commented, "I was real pleased with the vote. I want to thank everyone who supported me in the September 17 primary and ask them to again support me in the November general election."

"My plans are to visit door-to-door, discuss the future of the county and find out what the people's concerns are for Hancock County."

District 5 Supervisor Mike Ladner, who faces Barney Neease in the October runoff, said, "I'm very happy with the support of the people in District 5, and I appreciate the confidence they've shown me by voting for me in the primary."

"I want to continue being District 5 supervisor for the next four years. I will continue to work hard to reach the goals of this county."

In the District 46 senator race, incumbent Vic Frankiewicz narrowly won the Democratic nomination, although challenger Bill Johnson carried Hancock County.

Frankiewicz commented, "Bill ran a really well-organized campaign, and I want to congratulate him for that. The results were much closer than I expected."

"What's clear is that because of the divisiveness of the community, I will be spending more time working to unite my constituency before November."

Although Frankiewicz plans to take the same door-to-door approach being used by the local candidates, he said he'd like to see more political forums organized between now and November, for the benefit of both the candidates and the voters.

Post 77 donates

Commander Raymond Norton, center, of American Legion Post 77 of Waveland presents Pearl River Community College President Ted J. Alexander a $3,000 check. The money will be used for scholarships for Hancock County students attending PRC. Over past years, Post 77 has contributed more than $100,000 for Hancock County student scholarships. From left are Ott Brockman, co-chair of the PRC Development Foundation; Alexander, Norton, Danny Carter, past Legion commander; and Berlon Lee, co-chair of the Development Foundation.

needs or make improvements necessary for accessibility by handicapped persons.

"Housing Preservation Programs will result in improvements to the general living of low- and moderate-income homeowners and improve the long-term liveability of the housing stock that is available in the future," he commented.

In response to council members' questions, Endris said as he understands it, Gregory and Associates is able to earmark up to 10 percent of the funds granted each homeowner for administration to cover the cost of processing the application.

He also said the city does not have to set up a committee or choose a project area in order for homeowners to avail themselves of the grant money.

UNIFORMS

Mayor Edward Favre sparked a lengthy discussion about contracts when he updated the council on a situation regarding a new city worker uniform contract.

The city council voted in May to enter into a 36-month contract with G&K Uniforms. Recently, Favre explained, he became aware of a state attorney general's opinion, based on a Mississippi Supreme Court case, stating that one administration of a municipality's governing body cannot bind a subsequent administration into a contract.

In addition, Favre and his staff found that the city contract with Jackson Uniforms is not due to expire until January 1, 1992.

Favre said he then worked with G&K to modify the contract so that the current council and mayor will not bind the next administration when it takes office July 1, 1993.

Councilman Jim Thriffley said that his understanding is that no one, including the mayor, has the right to amend a contract authorized by a board resolution.

The council discussed the matter, and decided to have the contract with G&K changed to include a provision guaranteeing the next administration the right to terminate the contract if the council deems it necessary. The amended contract also does not take effect until January 1, 1992, when the Jackson Uniforms contract expires.

After the contract matter was settled, Thriffley moved that the council authorize the mayor and city attorney to review any contract approved by the council and report on their findings at the first possible council meeting after the proposed contract is received.

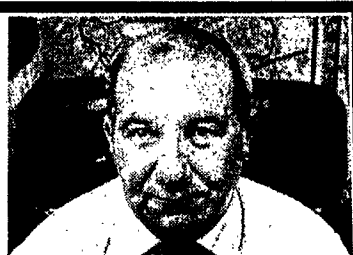

The council passed the motion 5-0.

Attend conference

Municipal Judges George Lipscomb of Bay St. Louis, left, and McInnis Ward of Pass Christian attended a recent conference in Jackson conducted by the Mississippi Judicial College.

Thank You! Hancock County

For your overwhelming support in the Democratic Primary, I need your continued support on November 5th.

Couple celebrates 60th anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wojdacz of Diamondhead Community will celebrate their 60th wedding anniversary Thursday, Sept. 19, (today) with a renewal of vows ceremony at their residence.

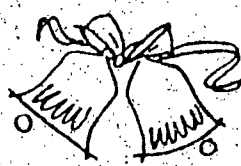

Father Henry McInerney of Annunciation Parish will perform the ceremony.

The couple was married Sept. 19, 1931 in Milwaukee, Wis. and have been residents of Diamondhead for 14 years.

The couple are parents of two sons, Edward Wojdacz of Milwaukee, Wis.; Donald Wojdacz, San Antonio, Texas; two daughters, Mrs. Joanne Yankovitch, Altina, Mich.; and Mrs. Kathleen Pouria, Houston, Texas.

The couple has 15 grandchildren and 17 great-grandchildren.

Mr. Wojdacz, who is housebound, was an employee of International Harvester in Milwaukee.

A party in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Wojdacz and for close friends will be given by Raymond and Lorraine Graft, friends of the couple.

Mrs. and Mrs. Joseph Wojdacz

COOKING UP A STORM

By Katie McGuire Caire

I'm afraid that I startled a couple of shoppers next to me this morning, when I was in the process of choosing two eggplants from the bin. I rubbed them together, cocking my ear as I did; honestly, I haven't taken leave of my senses. I was only following the good advice given me some years ago!

It was at the open air market in a small town in Mexico, and I was attempting to choose eggplants, when the stall keeper advised me that, "If you rub the eggplants together, and they squeak, then you know that they're fresh!" (Of course, it took us several tries to come to an understanding of what she was trying to tell me and also needed the assistance of a bystander with a better command of English than the market vendor had, and a far better command of Spanish than I!)

However, the eggplants were ever so fresh and quite tasty; so I shall, I suppose, continue drawing puzzled glances from fellow shoppers! But, the procedure works, at least for me!

Eggplant used to be known as "Mala Insana," or Mad Apple, as it was thought to cause insanity—but that was ever so long ago. I'm quite mad about eggplant myself, as are many others—for its elegant royal purple coat (except for the green or white eggplants, of course) and its earthiness and meatiness, as well as its versatility. (And, it adds to an attractive table arrangement, surrounded by lemons and bell peppers and such, with grapes spilling over the whole in a bowl or other container. That's before you cook it, of course!)

To get a bit more serious and sensible, eggplant is quite versatile. I often use coarsely chopped eggplant in place of meat in my tomato sauces for pasta; it has a quite "meaty" taste. I like eggplant fritters and fried eggplant sticks. I enjoy that marvelous combination known as Ratatouille, brought to fame by Mediterranean cooks, much similar to that old Creole favorite, "Gumbo Goutier."

Treasured in Far Eastern countries for more than 3,000 years, the eggplant is said to have been brought from the Orient to the Western World some 1,500 years ago, and was at first looked upon as solely ornamental, and, I said earlier, rather dangerous!

Old recipes called for long, long soaking in salted water—was that to cast out the dangers, do you suppose? I lightly salt or press down eggplants, so as to remove any bitterness and also to draw off moisture so that the eggplant will not absorb too much oil when frying, for example.

And, one of my favorite ways with eggplant is:

STUFFED EGGPLANT CREOLE

2 small eggplants (approximately 2 lbs. total)
1/2 to 3/4 lb. chopped ground beef

1 clove garlic, crushed
1/4 cup chopped onion (fine)
1/4 cup chopped bell (green) pepper (fine)

1/4 cup chopped celery (fine)
1 can (16-oz.) tomatoes, undrained

1/2 tsp. hot pepper sauce
1/4 tsp. dried thyme leaves
1/2 cup dry bread crumbs (packaged or your own)

1/4 cup butter or margarine, melted
Cayenne, black pepper, salt as desired

Wash the eggplants, cut in half lengthwise. Add eggplant to an inch depth of boiling salted water in a pot and simmer, covered, for 10 minutes or until pulp is tender. Drain and cool.

Scoop out pulp from the halves, leaving a shell 1/4-inch thick. Dice the pulp, and set aside while you saute the ground beef and the garlic in the oil just until the meat browns. Add the onion, green pepper and celery—the "Holy Trinity" of Creole cookery! Cook over low heat for 5 minutes.

Stir in the tomatoes, thyme and Tabasco, as well as pepper and bit of salt if you wish. Remove from the heat and add the reserved eggplant pulp. Spoon the mixture into the eggplant shells and place in a shallow baking pan. Combine the crumbs and butter, sprinkle over the stuffed eggplants. Bake, uncovered, in a 375 degree oven for 45 minutes or so, or until hot and bubbly. (Four servings)

P.S. You may need to add more crumbs if mixture is "runny."

I often sprinkle Romano or Parmesan cheese over all; and at times substitute chopped ham or shrimp for the ground beef.

Works of wildflower sculptor McQuilkin on display at Walter Anderson Museum

Now through Oct. 31 the Walter Anderson Museum of Art will present the work of one of the Gulf Coast's most accomplished artists in the museum's Library Gallery. The exhibition entitled, "Rare and Endangered Wildflowers of the South," hosts 12 of the artist's most recent sculptures. Trailer McQuilkin was born in New Orleans and now resides in Ocean Springs. In the late 1960's, he became fascinated with the idea of reproducing nature and experimented with various media to achieve accurate effects. By 1972, his work was sufficiently acknowledged to win a coveted place in the special Easter windows of Tiffany and Company, New York.

Four years later, a major commission from New Orleansian Edith Rosenwald Stern provided him with the opportunity to study botanical specimens in depth and to execute his sculpture with increased accuracy. The 20 sculptures that formed this commission are now in the collection of Longue Vue House and Gardens, New Orleans.

McQuilkin's chosen medium is copper, in wire and sheet form; this malleable metal is cut, soldered, manipulated, chased, primed and finished with oil paint. Copper is ideally suited to the accurate depiction of minute botanical details and such natural phenomena as an insect-bitten leaf. The use of oil paint permits the realistic depiction of the most subtle shade of natural color.

Judith and Louis Freeman began discussing the commission of a collection of rare and endangered Southern wildflowers with McQuilkin in 1988. Work commenced in 1989. Almost two years later, December of 1990, the collection on view, which includes representative species found in Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama, was completed.

The museum will be hosting the exhibition in conjunction with the exhibitions, William Eggleston: Jamaica Botanical Projection at the museum's west gallery and the museum's permanent collection of work by W. I. Anderson.

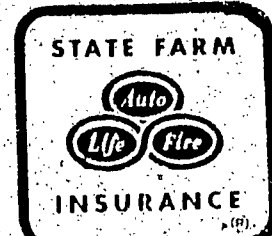

The Walter Anderson Museum of Art is a non-profit institution located at 510 Washington Avenue in Ocean Springs. Admission to the exhibition galleries is $3 adults and $1 children over age six. The museum is open to the public Tuesday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Sunday from 1 to 5 p.m. For information about this and other programs, call the museum at 872-3164.

ARTIN' ABOUT

Rupp seminar/Hillyer House show
McDonald class/Kowalski performs

Artin' About is a regular feature of The Sea Coast Echo, providing information about local and state fine and performing arts events. Contributions are welcome, and should be addressed to: Artin' About, Sea Coast Echo, P.O. Box 2009, Bay St. Louis, MS 39521-2009. Submissions will be included on a space available basis, with first consideration given to those events nearest publication date.

Oriental sumi brush painter Nancy Rupp will give a series of demonstrations this month on how to adapt traditional sumi brushpainting techniques to local subjects.

The demonstrations, being given now through September 21, include working with subjects such as flowers, bird, cats and other animals and using calligraphy and spontaneous ink wash techniques.

Enrollment is limited. The workshops, with fees of $20 each, include tutorial handouts, one rice paper and loan of painting materials. Participants are asked to bring any supplies or newsprint. Brushpainting supplies will be available for purchase.

For more information, call Serenity Books at 467-3061.

Hillyer House on East Scenic Drive in Pass Christian is hosting an art exhibit through the month of September.

Featured are:

"The Bayou", a mixed media piece by Barbara Wing;

"Botanicals", watercolors by Ellen Reeves; "Sterling Fish Collection," jewelry by Gail Tomson; and other pieces representing 48 artists from the Gulf Coast to the West Coast.

Hillyer House is open Monday-Saturday 10-5, and Sunday 12-5.

For more information, call Paige Reed at 452-4810.

Artist John McDonald will conduct a painting class at Serenity Books starting Tuesday, Sept. 24, 6:30-9:30 p.m. and ending by December 10.

McDonald paints views of the contemporary South. His most recent recognition was a fellowship grant from the Southern Arts-Federation in association with the National Endowment for the Arts. His work is featured in collections nationwide and overseas.

He holds a master's degree in painting from Yale and a bachelor of fine arts from the University of Georgia.

Classes will consist of 12 three-hour sessions one day a week. Two outdoor sessions will occur on designated weekends.

The $225 instructor's fee is to be paid at the first class meeting. Participants are reminded to also allow for art supply expenses. A list of necessary supplies will be available at the first session.

The class will cover studio painting and explore the interests of each student. Basic methods and materials, different expressive means, and formal techniques will be explained and demonstrated.

For more information, call 467-3061.

The DaValt Studio at 212 Main Street in Bay St. Louis has been in operation since January, repairing and restoring artwork for collectors and antique dealers in the area. Prior to the opening, the work was handled in New Orleans.

The studio is managed by Carrie M. DaValt, a Pass Christian Isles resident with a degree in fine art and many years of experience in art restoration. She brings to the area expert restoration ability, an artist's appreciation of the work itself and an understanding of the original artist's methods and conception. Her own paintings and photographs have appeared in several shows across the country and have won awards.

Many local galleries and Gulf Coast art collectors, as well as antique dealers, use the DaValt Studio. Inquiries are welcome.

Lend an ear:

Stefan Kowalski recently appeared as soloist with the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra in a performance of Rachmaninoff's Piano Concerto #2 in C minor.

Kowalski is a pupil of Colby Fabian, local pianist and teacher.

In the performing arts:

An inopportune power failure provides the setting for Black Comedy, a Center Stage production being performed September 19-29.

Directed by Chuck White, this Peter Shaffer play showcases several wacky characters, lots of physical comedy and hysterical confusion. The show concerns a young suitor, a debutante, a German art dealer, an antique dealer and a tipsy spinster who in the dark is served scotch instead of lemonade.

The performances are set for 8 p.m. each evening. An afternoon showing will be given both Sundays at 3 p.m.

Tickets are $10 for adults and $6 for children.

Elsewhere in the state:

The second annual Heidelberg Oktoberfest will be Saturday, Sept. 21, in Magnolia Park.

Events will begin at 10 a.m. and continue to 5 p.m. Activities include music, dancing, entertainment for the children, and arts and crafts. Refreshments will be sold.

For more information, call 787-4611 Monday-Friday, or write P.O. Box 372, Heidelberg, MS 39439.

Heidelberg is located in Jasper County and is accessible by Interstate 59 and Hwy. 11, 528 and 503. Signs will direct festival-goers to Magnolia Park, just off the east end of Main Street near the railroad tracks.

The 1991 October Canton Flea Market Arts and Crafts Show will be Oct. 10 on the lawn of the historic Madison County Courthouse.

The show is host to more than 400 juried arts and crafts exhibits. Here one will find exhibitors from as far away as Australia to local Cantonians, selling handmade wares of all descriptions, as well as a variety of plants.

Canton Flea Market posters, t-shirts and shopping bags will be for sale that day.

OLA begins 21st year

Our Lady Academy, all-girls Catholic school for grades 7-12, began its 21st school year with a new principal, three new faculty members, 45 new students, two new music classes and a new computer lab.

Sister M. Donella Hartman, RSM, was selected as principal for the 1991-92 school year by the OLA School Board last spring. Sister Donella completed her administrative internship in St. Louis last year. She replaces Sister Jacqueline Howard, RSM, who became principal at Mercy Academy in New Orleans.

Beside a new principal, OLA has 25 new seventh graders and 20 new students in grades 8-12. The freshman class is the largest with 39 students. The total enrollment for OLA's 1991-92 school year is 182.

Our Lady Academy also has three new teachers. In the religion department, John B. Switzer replaces John Altier who retired last June.

Madeline Breeden joins the science department and replaces Julie Cranford, who moved to Hattiesburg.

Joy Mehrkens, who serves the Our Lady of Gulf Parish as music director, also teaches two new music classes at OLA.

The new music additions include a required semester's course in voice for freshmen and an elective choral music course for grades 10-12.

Boys from St. Stanislaus have been invited to join the choral music class which will perform at various school, church and civic functions.

The ninth grade class is also taking a required semester's course in computer literacy in OLA's new computer lab.

A matching grant from the Sisters of Mercy Educational Foundation enabled OLA to raise $20,000 for new computers.

Twenty new IBM compatible computers with 14-inch VGA color-monitors, hard disks and two sizes of floppy disk drives, along with four printers, were installed this past summer by Bernie Cousins and Jim Braud.

Dr. Sidney Chevis and Jim Robertson built tables for the new equipment, and Chuck Ramsey from Bay Technical Associates donated a $2,000 junction box for the computers to be wired to the printers.

Besides the freshman computer literacy class and a course in BASIC taught by Susan Batson for grades 10-12, the computers are also used for business education classes. Tula Carver teaches keyboarding for the seventh and eighth grades and typing I on the computers.

The entire faculty and staff of OLA spent an afternoon of in-service in August studying computer possibilities and learning to operate the new equipment.

Grandparents honored at C. B. Murphy

Special to the Echo

The students, faculty and administration of Charles B. Murphy Elementary invited their grandparents to lunch Friday, Sept. 6 in honor of "Grandparents Day." Approximately 65 grandparents were on hand to visit the classrooms and have lunch with their grandchildren.

The first and second grade classes made dinosaur place-mats and read "A Day with Grandma" during story hour. Each student in the third grade class wrote a story entitled, "The day my grandparents got me out of a jam."

The fourth grade class sketched silhouettes of their grandparents and asked the grandparents to guess which silhouette was of them.

The fifth grade class sang a song in honor of their grandparents. The sixth grade class made a book of remembrances and what makes their grandparents special. Each sixth grade grandparent received a book.

models.

Very fine European folding cameras can be had in this price range as well. While the glass in most of these older veterans might not be on the cutting edge of optical technology, much of it is better than you might suspect and by the early '50s, most manufacturers were producing coated, color-corrected lenses.

Use these cameras intelligently, especially with zone focusing folding cameras, stop the lenses down to medium or small apertures for sharpest results and use a tripod.

I'm willing to bet that you'll be amazed at the quality of your prints. They will probably blow the doors off most of your 35mm work and no one has to know that you didn't spend $5,000 on the latest medium-format wonder.

If someone actually catches you using one of these old cheapies and it's a fairly obscure model, you can create your own pedigree for it. Tell 'em it's the rare Booga-Booga camera and that you inherited this particular one from a friend who once ruled a little-known Third World country. The human sacrifice ceremony was a photo opportunity not to be missed.

A DIFFERENT VIEW

By Traci Bonney

For those of you who missed the Artists Open Studio Tour Sunday, too bad.

It was a lot of fun. Of course, you can still visit most of the studios and see a good bit of the works on display at the tour, but there's something about joining thousands of other people who are also looking at art, that just isn't there if you stroll through a studio on your own.

Besides, if you missed the tour, you missed a chance to get one of Jeanne Warner's "Watermelon" fans.

But this isn't about "Watermelon" on a stick, or being one of several hundred people ogling other people's artwork and sweating (the weather was hot, believe me).

By the way, thanks to everyone who provided refreshments. The fruit juice punch was a real Godsend.

What I'm writing about this week is inspiration.

If you are the least bit creative, things like the Open Studio Tour will set your mind in motion with ideas. No, really, I mean that.

That's one of the greatest things about viewing someone else's efforts at self-expression: even if you don't like or agree with whatever they are saying with their art, it may still inspire you to make some attempt at expressing yourself.

Some of the work I saw Sunday really blew my mind, while some of it left me cold. But that's no surprise. That's life.

For instance, one guy's work is done entirely with embroidery floss in French knots. This artist has chosen to interpret the paintings of George Seurat in needlepoint.

Anyone who knows anything about Seurat knows he painted by putting little dots of color on the canvas (kind of like what happens to a picture broadcast on TV or printed in the newspaper). From a distance the painting looks smooth, but up close (very close) the dots are distinguishable.

So of course, it makes perfect sense to use French knots to interpret the painting into needlework.

Even so, I certainly wouldn't have thought of it, and I definitely wouldn't have attempted it had the thought come to me. Turning a painting into a canvas full of French knots (and a smattering of backstitching) is a major undertaking.

My hat is off to the artist. I could have stared at those "paintings" all day.

I won't discuss the stuff I didn't like. I don't want to insult anyone, and besides, preferences in art are as personal as preferences in food, clothes, music, jewelry, entertainment and religious worship.

As I wrote earlier, my main topic today is inspiration. Different things inspire different people. For some, it may be a particular piece of work, while for others, it may be a category that sparks the creative fire.

For still others, it may simply be a certain combination of colors, textures or materials.

I guess my point is this: if you know you have creative ability, but find it suppressed for whatever reason, do something about it.

Go stare at someone else's creativity, and keep staring until something clicks.

Teen Board honorees

Teen Board's fall fashion show benefits Our Lady Academy

The Princess Shoppe Teen Board raised $1,496 for Our Lady Academy with a fashion show at the Pass Christian Yacht Club Aug. 27. Princess Fahey, owner of the Princess Shoppe, was sponsor of the show.

The 11th annual fashion show, "Back to School Paper Chase," featured many styles of current fashions modeled by the Teen Board members of 1990-91. OLA members who participated in the modeling are Patty Chevis, Alyson Cousins, Amy Lee, Kim Manieri and Jeanne Williams. The commentary was given by Jane Ann Fahey.

New Teen Board members for 1991-92 from OLA are Katie Blount, Letty Boelte, Jennifer Clark, Patty Chevis, Danielle Gobert, Alicia Lentz, Heather Lott, Diana Markel, Kim Manieri, Monique Natal, Michelle Redditt, Brandy Roche, Marcy Scardino, Amy Schaefer, Amber Turfitt and Margaret Welz. Teen board coordinator is Eleanor Rogers.

Proceeds from the show were presented to Sister M. Donella Hartman, RSM, principal, and will be used as seed money for OLA's International Food Fest Oct. 4-6 on Our Lady of the Gulf Parish grounds on the beach.

During the intermission, awards were given to teen-board members. The achievement cup was presented to Gina Myatt from Purvis, and the dedication plaque was presented to Julie Lagasse of Bay St. Louis.

Refreshments at the fashion show were prepared and served by parents of OLA.

Bay Catholic fund-raiser offers weekly cash prizes

Special to the Echo. School fund-raising usually elicits cries of "not again" from sales-weary parents, but Bay Catholic Elementary's new 800 Club has most parents' approval while they secretly hope to be among the club's numerous prize winners.

For a $50 membership fee, ticket holders are eligible for 52 drawings in a one-year period, beginning Oct. 7.

Cash prizes are awarded weekly in the amounts of $500 the first Monday of each month and $100 each other Monday, explained Margaret Adam, president of Bay Catholic's PTO which is sponsoring the 800 Club.

"The response to this idea has been very positive," said Adam. "The chance to win every week is really appealing to most people." Those who win will still be eligible for every drawing, she added.

The money raised through the 800 Club is already budgeted for the 1991-92 school year toward the operation of the school, Adam pointed out. The PTO is hoping the 800 Club will be so successful that it will be the only fundraiser this school year.

"The success of this project depends a great deal not only on the support of Bay Catholic families, but on community support as well," said Adam.

By consolidating fund-raising efforts into one project, BCE Principal Ann Allen said, she hopes to see the PTO move into a new educational role for parents, providing speakers and workshops on topics of interest to families.

Those who wish to purchase an 800 Club membership may call Bay Catholic School at 467-5158 during school hours, or come by the school at 301 S. Second St., Bay St. Louis, across from City Hall.

Benefit dinner set Saturday

The Waveland Improvement Project will serve a benefit fried chicken and fried fish dinner on Saturday, Sept. 21, noon until.

The dinner will be at the Martin Luther King Park, Herlihy Street, Waveland.

Dinners are at a donation of $3.50 each, said Clarence Harris.

The dinner is a benefit for Clarence Hall, who has been ill and has lost both legs.

Mississippi Museum of Art offers special membership for teachers

The Mississippi Museum of Art is giving Mississippi teachers something they don't get very often—a break! Each of the MMA's three locations in Jackson, Biloxi and Tupelo will offer a special discount membership rate for educators.

Teacher memberships will be $15—lower than any of the museum's membership levels. With this new membership level, the MMA Education Department has added some special benefits geared toward teachers.

The yearly $15 membership will entitle teachers to season tickets to the museum's informative six-part lecture series, preview tours of major exhibits with educational resources available, slide programs to use in the classroom, fall and spring enrichment workshops, discounts in the MMA Museum School art classes and Museum Sales Gallery, free admission to all three museum branches, and free issues of the MMA's quarterly, full-color Magazine, Perspective.

Mississippi Museum of Art curator of education and former Jackson Public Schools teacher, Anna Walker, says the new membership level applies to all teachers.

Teacher memberships are not just for art teachers—teaching is an art! We feel the MMA has many things to offer teachers, both personally and professionally.

For more information on MMA teacher memberships, call 374-5547.

THE SEA COAST ECHO—THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 19, 1991-1B

TIME OUT

The Pass Christian VFW Post 5931 dart teams, the Vets and Stars & Stripes, lost one and tied one in match play last Thursday.

The Vets surrendered 13-5 to the Knights of the Round Table Lounge in Biloxi, while the Stars & Stripes ended their match on a 9-9 tie with Butch's Babes of Zapata's Lounge in Biloxi.

In the Vets' game, men's high was a tie between Knight Archie Holland and Vet Steve Malley at 120, while men's high out went to Vet Vernon Guilfooy with 50. Ladies' high went to Vet Dianna Patton with 94.

In the Stars & Stripes match, Butch's Babes leader Butch Barton took men's high with 100, while Stars & Stripes member Mike McGuinness captured men's high out with 40.

Both the ladies' high and high out went to Butch's Babes. Mary Ann Kisher took ladies' high with 96, while Terri Iraca captured the high out with 16.

Tonight's games begin at 7:30 p.m.

The Vets play the Barracudas from Biloxi Popp's Ferry at the Pass Christian VFW hall, while the Stars & Stripes take on the Moose Lodge Thorns in Gulfport.

USM Alumni Association is sponsoring a bus trip to send USM fans from the Coast to Auburn, Ala., for the USM-Auburn game on Saturday, Oct. 5.

The USM Golden Eagle Road Trip to Auburn will leave the Edgewater Mall south parking lot (between Gayfer's and US. 90) at 6:30 a.m.

The bus will arrive at the Cracker Barrel Restaurant in Montgomery, Ala., for lunch (not included in price of trip). The bus will arrive in Auburn at 1 p.m. for the game. The bus will leave Auburn at 5 p.m. and arrive back in Biloxi at 10 p.m.

The trip costs $30 per person for round-trip ticket only, $48 per person for round-trip ticket and game ticket. The trip is limited to the first 44 people to sign up and send in payment.

Prices include snacks and refreshments on the bus—if the bus does not sell out, the money will be refunded.

To sign up send checks to Billy Walker, 1980 Beach Blvd., Biloxi, MS, 39531.

Stanislaus opens District play against St. Martin

BY ELLIS CUEVAS
St. Stanislaus will host the St. Martin Yellow Jackets to open District 4A play Friday in Rock-A-Chaw stadium.

Stanislaus, sporting two victories in non-district play, should be at full strength for the Yellow Jackets by Friday, head coach Ken Lyons reports.

"We have several defensive players with serious bruises from the two rugged games, but most should be ready by Friday," Lyons said.

In preparation for St. Martin,

Lyons indicated his team is still working on screen passes and said that he isn't satisfied with his option play thus far.

St. Martin's team is well-rounded and runs a veer option using a multiple offense and they do a lot of different formations. In addition, they use special plays such as halfback passes, Lyons said.

"This year all District 4A teams are very close, except possibly Picayune, and I hope they won't be head and shoulders above the rest of the teams," Lyons added.

Picayune had been in District 5A and dropped to 4A for this season. A team is assigned to a District by the number of students in the system.

Stanislaus is rated in state's Top 25 high school football teams by the Associated Press and Lyons said, "We are enjoying the polls, but really, it is to early in the season to believe in them, if we are there at the end of the season, then we can believe them."

Tigers host Forrest County

BY RANDY PONDER

The Bay High Tigers open district play Friday night when they host Forrest County, a pre-season district champ favorite.

"We are approaching the opening of our district schedule as a chance to begin a new season. The goal of earning a playoff spot is our primary objective," Tiger coach Rocky Gaudin stated.

Forrest County comes into J. D. McCulloch Stadium with a one win-one loss record. They defeated Oak Grove, 23-21, in their first game and then lost to North Forrest, 28-6.

Although the Tigers fell to 0-2 with a 42-16 loss to St. Stanislaus last week, the offense showed signs of improvement.

Things seemed to click when sophomore quarterback Sam Sheppard entered the game after the second offensive series.

"I think we may have found a quarterback," Gaudin said.

Bay High spotted the Rocks seven points to start that game before Gerrit Carver picked off a St. Stanislaus pass and scampered 18 yards for the Tigers' first points of the year. Sheppard pushed across a two-point conversion as BHS took a surprising 8-7 lead early in the second quarter.

An outstanding defensive effort maintained that lead until just before halftime. A long TD pass and a two-point conversion gave the Rocks a 15-8 advantage.

Bay High never recovered, and St. Stanislaus ran up 21 third quarter points. The Tigers did not play with the same intensity the second half.

"We played a good first half, but made too many mistakes to win (five fumbles, one interception and over 100 yards in penalties)," Gaudin reported. "The defense played solid most of the game. Some missed assignments resulted in big plays."

Gaudin said Brennan Compretta, Gerrit Carver, Dwayne Antoine, Jimmy Strong, Jeff Hopgood and Miguel Smith all had good defensive performances.

On offense, Gaudin pointed to the play of Sheppard at QB, "...he got the offense on track," and Adrian Whavers, "...another good effort, especially on kick-off returns."

Jason Loiacano, fullback-linebacker, missed the SSC game due to illness. He should be ready this week.

The status of tackle Keith Carr and safety Chris Roberts is undetermined at this time. Both have knee injuries.

Game time is 7:30 p.m.

Hawks look for first win

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

The Hancock High School Hawks will be facing off with the Long Beach Bearcats Friday minus three men.

HHS Coach Irvin Favre reported quarterback Jeff Favre is out indefinitely with a separated shoulder.

Guard Anthony "Gator" Lee and center Eric Necaise both suffered injuries and will not play tomorrow.

Aside from the untimely loss of manpower, Coach Favre remains undaunted in his belief that the Hawks can still pull themselves up from their current 0-2 standing.

"Long Beach will be the third 5A team we've played in a row. Their record is 0-2, like ours. They are searching for their first win, too.

"Last week, Long Beach had a tough time against d'Iberville and they always play tough against us. I don't care if we have a much better team than theirs, they always play us close.

"They hit very hard and are an aggressive team. They stay in the game until the end, and that is where their break could come if we are not careful. We have to be ready, or we may come up on the short end of the stick.

"We have been playing a good second half, but not as good in the first half. It is important that we improve on that first half of play."

Coach Favre said for Friday's game against the Bearcats the replacements are: Doug Authement, quarterback; Matt Sones, guard; and Kendrick Ladner, center.

Coach Favre added though the Hawks were not playing very well these past games, he wasn't too concerned since next week HHS begins competing in their own district, 4A.

"There is still a good chance we will come out district winners," Favre stated.

"Hopefully these tougher games will help us in the long run to be a better team."

Hancock plays its first home game against Long Beach at 7:30 p.m. Friday.

Pirates face Sumrall Friday

BY TRACI BONNEY

Two young teams will face off Friday when the Pass Christian Pirates travel to Sumrall.

Pass Christian, 2-0 for the season, will continue relying on its strong defense while working to strengthen its offense, according to coach Joseph Brown.

He said, "Offenses score points; defenses win championships. If we can continue playing strong defense and get our offense a little more solid, we should be in good shape."

Brown said of the trip to Sumrall, "We're hoping to win, but we're traveling that far to a town where two years ago we were penalized like crazy. Two years ago, we were penalized 15 times for 190 yards, according to our records."

"I'm leery more of the officials than the guys on the field, to be frank about it."

He said Sumrall has a "pretty respectable team, but they're young and making mistakes, like us. We'll just have to wait for the scouting reports."

Sumrall is closer in size and weight to the Pirates than any other team they've played this season, he added.

Brown praised both the Pirates' defensive and offensive lines in last week's 21-7 win over East Central.

"The defense was really solid, and the offense played tough, too. I was pleased with the team's playing, and with the coaching and special team coordinating."

Pass Christian's Players of the Week last week were Ray Alexander on defense, Gordon Ward on offense and Tony Jacobs for special team.

4-H Shooting Club organized for youths

The Hancock Shooting Sports Club is being organized for local youths ages 17 and under. Prospective members must belong to a Hancock County 4-H, and have successfully completed the Mississippi Hunter Education course.

Monthly club matches are required, so that teams can be selected by elimination of lower shooting scores. Members may also compete on an individual basis.

Teams will consist of five shooters. There will be one senior team (ages 15-17) and one junior team (under 14).

The following equipment is required and must fall within the guidelines of the NRA Youth Championship Program:

Archery equipment, 45 caliber or 50 caliber muzzle loader, 22 caliber LR rifle, 20 gauge or 12 gauge shotgun (capable of holding two or more shot shells at one time); ear and eye protection and ammunition for the above firearms.

Membership is free, not including the cost of books and materials to take the NRA's basic rifle, shotgun and muzzle loader courses.

Members will be eligible to shoot in the DCM junior matches at Stennis Space Center Gun and Archery Club.

The Hancock Shooting Sports Club will compete against other clubs at local, district and state levels. The state will select teams to go to the NRA Youth Championships.

Competition is based on material learned from hunter education courses. It consists of a compass reading course, wildlife identification and habitat, tracking wildlife and a written test.

Shooting competition consists of archery, muzzle loader, shotgun and rifle skills.

For additional information, contact Mississippi Hunter Education instructor Antoine Boyd at 467-6838.

Bay High Players of Week

Sam Shepard, left, was selected by the Bay High Athletic Club as Offensive Player of the Week for the week of September 9-13. Shepard, a sophomore, was quarterback in Friday's game against the Rock-A-Chaws. Gerrit Carver, right, was chosen Defensive Player of the Week. Carver added the Tigers' first points of the year when he picked off a St. Stanislaus pass and ran 18 yards for a touchdown. (Bay High School Player of the Week award is sponsored by John McDonald Realty.)

Raiders join fall soccer league

Coast Episcopal High School has joined the Hattiesburg Recreational Soccer League this fall and played the first game of an eight-game series last Saturday, Sept. 14.

Playing on the San Antonio Field, the Raiders' first game was against an older, more experienced Under-19 team from Laurel. Laurel defeated the Raiders 3-1.

The Raider team consists of players from grades 7 through 12, and everyone on the team played in Saturday's game. Junior Nathan Guice scored the Raiders' only goal, and senior goal keeper Chris Painter is credited with over two dozen saves.

Other players who participated in the game were seniors Frank Arrington, Dave Hagan, Mike Lee and Lee Wheatley and junior George Hlass.

Freshmen team members are David Bragdon, Joey Jenkins and Marty VanderNoot.

Eighth grade players are Jamie Homrig, John Painter, Todd Robinson and Mike Strojny. Seventh grade players are Danny Bragdon, Liam Fitzpatrick and Marc Mortimer. The Raiders are coached by French and Latin teacher Eric Nye.

The next game is scheduled for Thursday, Sept. 17 in Hattiesburg at the San Antonio Field at 6:30 p.m.

Bay Jr. High Player of Week

Xavier Lewis was chosen Jr. High Player of the Week by the Bay High Athletic Club for the week of September 9-13. Lewis' performance credits in the 7th/8th grade team's 28-0 shutout of St. Stanislaus included a 60-yard run and a 65-yard punt return for a TD. (Bay Junior High School Player of the Week Award is sponsored by John McDonald Realty.)

Tiger pride shines brightly in B-team, 9th, 7th/8th games

BY TRACI BONNEY

One group of Bearcats and two fields of Rock-A-Chaws fell under the claws of three prides of Tigers last week.

The host Bay High B-team Tigers slashed the Long Beach Bearcats 14-6 in their season opener. After a slow start, the Tigers got going behind the running of L.C. Curry and Larrone Lewis and the quarterbacking of Sam Shepard.

Tight end Chad Strahan contributed the reception of a TD pass to the Tigers' game, while defense leaders included Brad Esteve, Danny Jackson, Benny Murphy and Larrone Lewis. The team lost a chance at a shutout when they gave up a touchdown late in the game.

The ninth grade Tigers edged the St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws 18-16 at SSC in what coach Rocky Gaudin called "one of the most exciting games ever played in this county on any level."

Trailing 8-0 at halftime due to a 75-yard TD pass, the Tigers' offense came alive in the second half. A 60-yard Xavier Lewis run, and a 65-yard punt return by Lewis for a touchdown with less than three minutes to go, jumpstarted the Tigers.

The Rocks rallied with a 93-yard touchdown pass to regain the lead with 54 seconds left, but that didn't stop the Tigers. They scored as the horn sounded on a 25-yard screen/throw from LeRoy Hawkins to Xavier Lewis to clinch the win.

Outstanding defensive play was shown by Yancey Mayfield, LeRoy Hawkins, Brad Laneau, Raymond McCall and Raleigh Murphy.

The 7th/8th grade Tigers mauled the Rocks 28-0 at SSC, scoring all 28 points in the first half behind the running of Walt Shabazz and Danny Ferrell.

The Tigers played the second half with mostly second and third team players to give them some experience, Gaudin said.

The defense was led by Donni Ray, Danny Ferrell, James Benton and George Williams. Gaudin assessed the games by saying: "The junior high (7th/8th grade) again played very sound fundamental football and the 9th grade team showed tremendous pride and determination."

The 1-0 B-team has an open week, while the 9th graders host Mercy Cross and the 7th/8th graders host Poplarville.

Rocks

In commenting about Stanislaus' two victories of the season, Lyons emphasized, "I would like to compliment my team for outstanding play, as they have shown a lot of class in the first two games."

Stanislaus enjoys very good fan support and Lyons is thrilled that the supporters appear more excited than ever.

The Rock-A-Chaws have not selected permanent team captains thus far this season.

Lyons said, "We have a lot of team leaders this season. We have five or six who could be team captains; this is a coach's dream."

The Rock-A-Chaw seniors are really showing the leadership it takes to make a good team, Lyons reported.

Friday's game should be an interesting one, Lyons indicated saying, "We have a well-rounded group and so does St. Martin."

Ticket price at the gate for St. Stanislaus is $4. Tickets may be purchased at the school in advance for $3 (adult) or $2 (student). Kick-off for Friday's game will be at 7:30 p.m. at Rock-A-Chaw stadium.

Barry Thomas of Bay St. Louis hooked into a 42-inch bull red while fishing off the American Legion Pier at Washington Avenue and Beach Boulevard last Wednesday. Thomas said he was fishing for shark with mullet on a 40-pound test line when the fish hit around 11 a.m. "It took me 30 minutes to pull it in." (Echo staff photo by Jacqui Cochran)

Boats, seamanship book collection at Bay Library

In conjunction with two U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary sponsored boating courses being held locally, the Hancock County Library System is exhibiting a new collection of books on boats and seamanship.

The collection covers both sailing and motorboat information on navigation, boatbuilding, cruising, rigging, lofting, engine care and repair, and fiberglassing.

Also included in the display are books on ship modeling, knots and splices, and for the armchair sailor, numerous accounts of sea stories.

The Coast Guard Auxiliary boating skills and seamanship courses are being held at two locations. In Diamondhead at the Community Center, classes are held on Monday evening at 7 p.m. For more information, call B. Shields at 467-4373.

The course is also being held in the meeting room of the Pass Christian Library on Monday evenings at 7:30 p.m.

The boats and seamanship book display will be on exhibit throughout the month of September at the City-County Library.

Area near Deer Island to open for shrimping

A small area of the Mississippi Sound north and east of Deer Island will open to commercial and recreational shrimping on Sept. 23 at 7 a.m.

Scott Gordon, Bureau of Marine Resources shrimp program coordinator, described the area as north of Beacon 18 in the Biloxi Bay Channel; then north-west to Beacon 22; then, again, northwest to Beacon 26; then west to Beacon 34, not including the Biloxi Channel; thence west to Beacon 30, exclusive of the Biloxi Channel; then south to Deer Island.

BMR officials decided to open the area to shrimping after samples showed shrimp to count 68 to the pound or larger.

Shrimp counting 68 to the pound are of the minimum legal size to be harvested by recreational and commercial shrimpers.

Gordon said that the area to be opened is the same area that was opened last year.

FISHIN' Y'ALL

By Jim Maness

Breton Sound fishing trip nets pay dirt in big trout

It's time to go fishin' y'all. I found the big trout. They are around the oil rigs in Breton Sound in about 30 feet of water.

I made a trip with a few friends to Shell Beach and caught about 60 trout that had a total weight of 192 pounds.

This was a long physically tiring trip that hit the jackpot. The auto trip to Shell Beach took about two hours each way.

The boat trip down the Ship Channel past the rocks and to the first oil rig took slightly more than an hour and a half each way.

The first rig out from the end of the rocks is about five miles offshore. We took a compass heading of 150 degrees from the last rocks to reach the rig. When we got there we looked for which way the tide was moving by looking at the flow of the current around the legs of the oil rig.

Once we determined which way the current was flowing, we noticed there were schools of fish working all around us, so we decided to tie off by the main platform, on the down current side.

We managed to catch mostly sheepshead this close to the rig.

Since I am a believer that live shrimp are for trout and not sheepshead, we started looking at the water around the other structures that surrounded the rig. We noticed one Christmas tree valve assembly, that was at the farthest point down current from the rig, showed plenty of surface action. So, we untied from the main structure and moved to the Christmas tree assembly: once again, taking care to tie up on the down current side.

The setup that we used was a 3/0 hook on a 12-inch coated wire leader with a live shrimp hooked through the horn. No sinker was used. We free-floated the bait, that is, we just let out about 25 yards of line and let the shrimp do his thing. And then, and then, Blamm-o.

We were using medium action tackle with 10-pound line and those big graduate school trout did not like to stay around when they found out that there was a hook attached to the tasty shrimp that they had just eaten. Needless to say, a lot of time was wasted re-rigging tackle as some of the fish decided that they were not going to stop until the line went pop.

A boat next to us landed one of those Spanish speaking fish, so I had an immediate turtle attack, which meant that the super deluxe double wammy, Golden Arches, homemade mackerel killer, had to come out of the tackle box in a flash. It did.

Out went the mackerel killer and double Blamm-o, an instant strike produced a screaming drag and a rod that was almost bent double. After a few minutes of fighting, the net revealed not a mackerel but a four-pound speck. I used my ruler on him and found out that he was slightly over 21 inches long, so I figured that he might make legal size back home, unless the size has been changed again. After the speck, I caught four Spanish mackerel and one more speck on the homemade mackerel killer.

For those interested, I took mackerel killer to The Sea Coast Echo. Drop by and take a look at how it is made. It even has teeth marks on it from hungry fish that it caught.

I have noticed a few people trying their luck with a cast net for shrimp along the seawall, but the shrimp are scarce. Maybe the cool front that is expected later this week will get the shrimp moving.

No reports at all from the surf fishermen.

Next week I will start reporting on the number and type of violations that BMR is issuing.

This week's wonderful wise words: Green men with flashing blue lights are very interested in people who keep crabs that measure less than five inches point to point.

Hasta la vista, turtle.

Mathis named PRC basketball coach

Richard Mathis, who has registered two state and one regional championship, plus one national runner-up and five top 20 national finishes, has been named head Wildcat basketball coach at Pearl River College.

Mathis, 44, was administrative assistant men's basketball coach last year at Mississippi State University. He and his family will be moving to Poplar-said Mathis. "I will use my proven knowledge of basketball, recruiting, public relations and program management to make Pearl River highly competitive in the state, region and on the national level."

Mathis has the credentials to back up his statements. He spent 1975 through 1981 at East Mississippi Junior College in Scooba and compiled an overall record of 94 wins and 38 losses.

He started as men's assistant in 1975 and became head women's coach in 1976, directing the Lady Lions to a three-year composite record of 68-19. He was honored as NJCAA Region VII "Coach of the Year" after guiding the 1977-78 East Mississippi Club to a 31-1 record enroute to a national runner-up finish in the NCAA playoffs.

In 1979 he was named head coach of the men's team at East Mississippi.

Overall at Scooba, Mathis won one state championship, one regional championship, and was national runner-up. He achieved international experience on a basketball goodwill tour of The Netherlands in 1978.

He became head coach of the Northeast Mississippi Junior

Main Street fund-raiser

An Eagle Pedal Plane, built by the Experimental Aircraft Association, is being raffled to raise funds for the Main Street Market program. The toy plane is roughly four feet long and is valued at $895. The drawing is sponsored by Ruth's Bakery and will be in front of the Hancock County Courthouse at 4:30 p.m. Dec. 7. Chances are $1 and are available at Ruth's Bakery, The Old Towne Restaurant, or from Mike Cuevas at Bay St. Louis City Hall.

Waterfowl hunting dates proposed

The Commission on Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks recommended Wednesday that the upcoming duck season open Dec. 7 and end Jan. 5.

The proposal for the 30-day waterfowl season now goes to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service in Washington for approval. The proposal was made at the commission's monthly meeting.

If the season is approved, state hunters will have a daily bag limit of three ducks, which may include no more than two mallards, no more than one of which may be a female.

The three-duck bag limit may not include more than one black duck, one pintail, two wood ducks, and one redhead.

The season on coots and mergansers will run concurrent with the duck season. The daily limit on coots is 15, and the daily limit on mergansers is five, only one of which may be a hooded merganser.

The season on Canada geese, white-fronted geese, and brant opens Dec. 7 and continues through Jan. 31, a total of 56 days. The season on lesser snow geese, greater snow geese, and Ross' geese begins Dec. 7 and lasts through Feb. 14, a total of 70 days.

The goose bag limit during each of the seasons is seven geese to include no more than two Canada geese and two white-fronted geese.

Hunting Canada geese, white-fronted geese, and brant in the Sardis Zone begins Dec. 7 and ends Jan. 12. The daily bag limit is one goose per day and two in possession.

Richard Mathis

ville from Starkville.

The new PRC coach, a native of Meridian, is replacing Peter Georgian who resigned to return to Wiggins to coach the Stone County Tomcats.

Mathis has had considerable success on the high school, junior college, Division II and Division I levels. For the last seven consecutive seasons he served as head coach his teams averaged 24 wins and six losses per season.

For the last eight seasons the teams with which Mathis was associated have qualified for the national tournament in their respective divisions, and that includes the 1991 Mississippi State Bulldogs which won their first SEC Championship and first NCAA tournament appearance in 29 years.

At Mississippi State, Mathis handled scheduling, scouting, academic advisement and on-the-floor coaching for Bulldog head coach Richard Williams.

In 12 years as a head coach on the collegiate level his teams have averaged 22 wins per year which include 262 victories and 83 losses.

"My teams are traditionally known for playing up-tempo, crowd pleasing basketball,"

Summer riding camp produces winners

Special to the Echo
If you thought the Kentucky Derby was only once a year, you might be surprised to learn that it happened again—twice!—on a recent Saturday in Pass Christian.

The Kentucky Derby at the Walk and Trot are just two of the games on horseback that the children at Auriol Hessemer's summer riding camp played at the end-of-camp horse show.

For the fourth summer, Hessemer offered riding instruction to children from all over the Gulf Coast at a three-day per-important and effective methods for teaching children to ride," said Hessemer.

While enjoying the competition, children learn fundamentals of horsemanship such as steering, control, balance and teamwork and sportsmanship.

In the "Egg in Spoon" race, riders hold a spoon with an egg (or in this case a golf ball) and ride first at the walk, then the trot, and finally the canter balancing the "egg" for as long as possible.

"Chase Me, Charlie" is a favorite old jumping game in which week, all-day camp during June, July and August.

Children attending the camp learn balanced seat English riding on the flat and over fences, as well as horse and stable management and complete care of the horse and equipment. In addition to riding, the campers cooled off with an hour's swim before lunch every day.

Among the campers' favorite activities are games on horseback. "While many people associate games only with Western riding, in England games are considered to be one of the most a jump is raised progressively higher until only one rider—the winner—is willing and able to jump that height.

In "Musical Sacks"—a variation of "musical chairs"—the riders walk their horses around the ring to music. When the music stops the rider dismounts and leads his horse as quickly as possible to an empty feed-sack in the center of the ring.

Because there is always one less sack than there are riders, one person is eliminated in each round until the last two riders ride around one sack. "Musical

ON ETV

ALLIGATORS, HUNTING DOGS

Floating down a river, alligator relocation, a night patrol with conservation officers and a look at how hunting dogs are trained are among the highlights for a special "Best of Mississippi Outdoors" airing at 7:30 p.m., Thursday, September 19, on Mississippi ETV.

It repeats the following morning at 6:15 and again at 5:30 p.m., Saturday, Sept. 21.

In this special encore presentation, "Outdoors" visits with dog training Earl Coleman of Jackson and dog handler and veterinarian Dr. Ricky Dunbar of Madison to see how dogs are trained for the hunt.

Then Jack Herring of Brandon, executive director of the MDWFP, takes viewers on a leisurely canoe trip to examine the diverse plant life that grows along the banks of Bear Creek.

Most Melvin Tingle journeys to a farm pond in Madison County with Jim Lipe of Clinton, a MDWFP biologist, to trap and relocate an alligator.

Judge Sherrie Davis awards a blue ribbon to Leigh Ann Hartwell, right, of Pass Christian and a second place to Sarah Golmon of Bay St. Louis.

Amy Saucier of Pass Christian with "Coco"

Sacks" is an enjoyable way to practice leading a horse, as well as mounting and dismounting safely and quickly.

Twelve of this year's campers participated in the end-of-camp show Saturday, Aug. 17. Judge for the equitation and jumping classes was Sherrie Davis of Gulfport.

NOTICE OF SALE

The United States offers for sale property being described as follows:

39 acres of rolling woodland with road frontage. Located on the property is a three bedroom, one bath brick home. Property is located nine (9) miles west of Poplarville, MS in Section 3, Township 3 South, Range 17 West, Pearl River County, MS.

This property has highly erodible farmland and is being sold subject to the purchaser obtaining a conservation plan from the Soil Conservation Services.

This property is located within a floodplain and is being sold subject to conservation easements, which restrict the usage of the property within the floodplain. Anyone interested in purchasing this property should contact the local FmHA Office for a copy of these easements prior to submitting a bid.

Additional information may be obtained from the FmHA County Supervisor listed below.

Sealed bids should be submitted in duplicate on Form FmHA 1955-46, "Invitation, Bid and Acceptance Sale of Real Property by the United States." These bids will be received at the Farmers Home Administration State Office, Suite 1001, Federal Building, Jackson, Mississippi 39269, until October 07, 1991, 1:00 p.m. (CST), and then publicly opened. Bidders should submit their bids in a sealed envelope marked as follows: "Sealed Bid 2805500060 - Harris".

Terms: The property will be sold to the highest bidder for cash or on terms of ten percent (10%) down payment, not to exceed twenty-five (25) annual installments, with the interest at the rate of 10.50%. Bid deposits must be in the form of a cashier's check or money order, personal checks will not be accepted. If financing is requested, please submit a current financial and income statement with your bid, along with three credit references. If purchaser elects to purchase the real property for CASH and then fails to comply with any of the terms of the sale contract, pursuant to item 12 Liquidated Damages of Form FmHA 1955-46 Invitation Bid and Acceptance, Sale of Real Property By the United States, the earnest money deposit shall be retained by the government as full liquidated damages. Preference will be given to a cash offer which is at least 97% of the highest offer requiring financing.

This property will be sold without regard to race, color, religion, sex, age, national origin, or marital status. Form FmHA 1955-46 and instructions for submitting bids may be obtained from Jackie D. Williams, County Supervisor, Farmers Home Administration, P.O. Box 31, Poplarville, MS 39470, telephone, 601-795-4592.

The property may be inspected at any time. The Government reserves the right to reject any or all bids.
